HOUSEBREAKING AND THEFT.—The liquor shop of Baloo Luximon, at Jackaria Bunder, was broken into on Thursday night, and property consisting of gold and silver ornaments, currency notes and cash, of the collective value of Rs. 70, was stolen from the premises.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A coroner's inquest was held on Saturday, at the morgue, touching the death of Mohona Kundoo, aged 25 years. Deceased was a day labourer, employed on board the steamship Kerbella, lying in this harbour. On Friday evening, while he was working in the after hold of that vessel, stowing bags of grain, he suddenly fell back and died immediately. The verdict was that the death of the deceased was caused by heart disease.

FIRE.—A fire broke out on Saturday morning in the shop of Nundram Punall, a confectioner, No. 467, at Shaik Memon Street, amongst some old papers used as wrappers, which was kept in the loft of the house. On the alarm being raised the neighbours and the divisional police rendered prompt assistance, and extinguished the flames within a short time, and before any serious damage was done. The origin of the fire is attributed to the careless use of the fireplace in the shop; the damage is estimated at Rs. 15.

DEATH FROM BURNS.—An inquest was held by the coroner at the J. J. Hospital on Saturday, touching the death of Gopal Bechoo, aged 22 years, a labourer. On the 10th ultimo, he was admitted into the hospital suffering from an extensive burn of the forearm, which he sustained by his clothes having accidentally caught fire while seated near a fireplace about ten days previous to his admission. He died from its effects about 7 o'clock on Saturday morning. A verdict of accidental death by burns was recorded.

FOUND.—A leather purse containing currency notes and cash, of the collective value of Rs. 62-2-1, was found on the Bholeshwar Road on Friday evening, by a man named Muchla Runchore, and handed over to the police; the same has been forwarded to the office of the Commissioner of Police for identification.—A black leather trunk, containing wearing apparel, &c., was found on Cruickshank Road by Tramway Inspector No. 15, on Friday. On the plate covering the lock of the trunk the name of H. Gonne appears. The trunk has been forwarded to the office of the Commissioner of Police, Byculla.

THE MISSING MAN.—Dawood Shaik Ismail, a nephew of the missing calassee, Ally Mahomed, of the P. and O. s.s. Bengal, went on board the police hulk on Friday evening, and reported that he had seen the dead body of Ally Mahomed floating in the harbour on the north side of Butcher's Island, but made no attempt to secure it. The police launch, with the informer on board, was immediately sent in search of the body, but no trace of it could be found. It appears the wife and mother of the missing calassee were in the same boat with Dawood, when they saw the dead body, and identified it as that of Ally Mahomed.

SUICIDES.—An inquest was held by the coroner on Saturday, at the morgue, touching the death of Rukmee, woman, aged 17 years. Deceased with her husband lived in a house at Nowrojee Hill. About four months ago, the husband married another wife, and since then they often quarrelled. On Friday afternoon she was found suffering from the effects of opium, and lying unconscious, and died at 6-30 p.m on the same day. A suicidal death by opium was recorded.—Another inquest was held by the coroner on same day, at the morgue, Cammatteepoora, on the body of Papama, aged 28 years, the wife of one Anumta, a cooly living at Candy Mohla. Her dead body was found floating in the Gunda Talao, at Soortee Street. She had been suffering from fever for the last two months, and had suddenly disappeared from her house. The verdict was that the death of the deceased was caused by her having committed suicide by drowning herself in a tank while in an unsound state of mind.

THEFT BY A RECKLA DRIVER.—At Fort the Police Court on Saturday, Inspector Butterfield charged Dondoo Luximon, a reckla driver, before Mr. Webb, with criminally misappropriating a tin box, containing a silver armlet, valued at Rs. 130, the property of Kessowjee Hemraj. It appeared that on the 27th ultimo, the complainant was going to the Fort from Mandvee in a reckla with a number of other brokers. On the way he happened to drop a tin box containing a silver armlet set with pearls. The other passengers noticed the box, and thinking it was the driver's, the carriage was stopped, and one of the latter jumped down and picked it up. The next day the complainant reported his loss to the police, and they traced the accused, who had broken up the ornament and melted half the silver, selling the pearls. What was left of the armlet was recovered by the police. The accused pleaded guilty, and in defence stated that he had broken up the bracelet and sold the silver and pearls while under a delirium brought on by a severe attack of ague and fever. His Worship awarded the accused six months' hard labour in the House of Correction.

STORING PETROLEUM WIHOUT A LICENSE.

AT the Fort Police Court on Saturday, Mr. Paffard, a License Inspector, charged Sullimanjee Ebramjee and six other Borahs and Mahomedans, under section 225 of the Municipal Act, with having stored petroleum in their shops at Null Bazaar, without licenses from the Municipal Commissioner.

Mr. Leask, Assistant Health Officer, stated that in consequence of certain information received, Dr. Weir and himself made a special inspection of certain oil dealers, who kept their shops in Null Bazaar. In each of the shops which were open they found a large number of cases of petroleum. In one shop was stored no less than one hundred cases, at least that was the amount guessed to be there, as it was too dark to count them. In another there were found 30 to 40 cases. These men had no licenses whatever; they had had retail licenses last year, but that only allowed them the usual quantity of five cases of oil each. Mr. Leask pointed out that in one shop a mehta or some clerk was writing with the aid of the light of a lamp. There were besides two other lighted lamps placed in the shop in a most dangerous position, and if an accident occurred his Worship might imagine the loss to property, and even to life, as it was in a most crowded section of Bombay. The accused, too, were aware that licences were necessary, and they had carried on in this way for sometime. The accused admitted the facts as stated by Mr. Leask, and were convicted and fined each Rs. 30, with a daily penalty of Rs. 10, till the oil was removed. Mr. Webb remarked that he considered them old offenders, inasmuch as they were, last year, license-holders. Their shops were situated in one of the most crowded parts of the city, and if any accident had happened, the probabilities were that the loss to life and property would have been enormous.

Mr. Leask remarked he did not wish for a daily penalty, as all the cases were seized by the Municipality and stored in a proper place.

His Worship said as the men were convicted the cases could not be retained, and the oil being returned the danger would be just as great as before. The daily penalty would therefore necessitate the accused getting rid of the oil, or taking out the necessary licenses immediately.

THE NATIVE PRESS.

THE NIZAM AND HIS MINISTER.

WE do not at all believe the story that Sir Steuart Bayley informed the Nizam that should the latter not keep up friendly relations with his minister the displeasure of the Supreme Government will be expressed to the Nizam in an unpleasant form. We are aware that, like the present Resident, Sir Steuart Bayley is also in favour of the ministerial party, but if he has tried to insinuate that the whole British Administration leaning towards that party, he has run the risk of exaggeration. It is understood that the decision of the question of Hyderabad Administration has been reserved till the Viceroy goes to Hyderabad in November next. If therefore Sir Steuart Bayley has threatened the Nizam as abovementioned, he will be said to have assumed Viceregal functions which he was not authorized to do.—Rast Goftar.

NEW APPOINTMENTS IN THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

THE two recent appointments to the Bombay Legislative Council are entirely unsatisfactory, and do discredit to the late very desirable nominations. We did not expect this of Lord Reay. We cannot imagine why the choice should have fallen on two ex-dewans. The name of Kazee Shaabudin was freely mentioned in connection with one of the vacancies in the Council, but the second name, that of Mr. Barve, comes on us by surprise. Kazee Shaabudin will by no means be a useful member of the Council, and we believe he himself is aware of this. Perhaps, he has accepted the honour in deference to the wishes of the Governor, but the public voice is decidedly against him. We have no hopes of his even doing justice to the name of his predecessor, the Hon. Budrudin Tyebjee. The same arguments hold good in case of Mr. Barve, who has been unnecessarily disturbed in his rest by Government, who have entirely ignored the demands of Guzerat for a representation in the local Council. We have already two eminent Dekkanees in the Council, Messrs. Telang and Ranade, and the third gentleman of the same community was not wanted.—Kaiser-i-Hind.

IT is rather a curious coincidence that Government should have thought fit to appoint two ex-dewans at the same time to the Legislative Council. Of course it is a compliment to the two important native States which these dewans recently served as to their capabilities as councillors, the opinions are divided. Kazee Shabudin, though an able and intelligent man, was not successful in his administration at Baroda. There is a danger of his cutting a similar figure in the Council, a danger considerably enhanced by his continued ill-health. In connection with the Kazee we have only to say that in him Government have found an educated Councillor, but not a useful one. We are glad that we have no such disappointment with regard to Mr. Barve, who has, in his time, conducted most important duties, which the successful administration of Kolhapore was the least responsible. He is educated, energetic, independent and courageous. We regret that we had omitted to mention his name in the list of probable candidates owing to his absence from Bombay.—Rast Goftar.

THE CASE AGAINST LIEUT. SALMON.

WE hear that the services of Lieut. Salmon from the Kattywar Political Department have been dispensed with, and he has been transferred to the Military Department.—Rast Goftar.

DEATH OF DR. ATHALYE.

WE are extremely sorry to announce the very premature and sudden termination of the very promising and useful career of Dr. Shriram Vasudev Athalye, L.M.S. Born of a well-known family in Ratnagiri, Dr. Athalye had inherited both an able head and a noble heart. Dr. Athalye took his medical degree at the Madras University in 1882. As a medical practitioner and citizen he spent the short period of four years at Madras, and during that time endeared himself to the public of that place in a most surprising manner. His kindness as a medical man, his noble and loving heart, his enthusiasm in all public questions, and his earnestness of purpose could not have escaped the attention of any one that had the least opportunity of coming into contact with him, and always engendered a high respect for his character and conduct. In losing such a very promising young man the Athalye family and Maharashtra have lost one, that in a short time was destined to be a great and good man. We extend our most sincere sympathy to Mr. Y. V. Athalye, the elder brother of the deceased, and his old revered father, family and his numerous friends.—Native Opinion.

SIR LEPEL GRIFFIN.

SIR L. GRIFFIN, it is announced, is to succeed Sir Charles Aitchison as Lieut.-Governor of the Punjab. If so, the province cannot be congratulated on the appointment, for the change from Aitchison to Griffin would probably prove even more violent for it than India has found in the succession of Ripon by Dufferin in the Viceroyalty. Sir Lepel not only believes the Anglo-Indian to be "the finest system of administration that the world has ever seen," but is for depriving it even in theory of that spirit of freshness and liberality, which it derives from its English origin, and which alone serves to distinguish it from a blighting Oriental oligarchy; and to perpetuate this remorseless policy, he would take kindly by the hand our caste system and its blessed belongings with a zest which might delight the souls of some at least of the leaders of "the party of absolute resistance" lately discovered among us. Not that he is enamoured of them on account of their excellence or has any love for their representatives—far from it; but as an astute politician he would use them for his own purposes. This is no imagination of our own for he has frankly avowed his principles. Speaking of the mixture of sociology and religion, which is known as Hinduism, he observes—"There is no other creed in the world which rebukes ambition as a crime, and successfully teaches its professors to respect authority and to be contented with their lot even when most unfortunate or degraded." Hence his patronage of it is logical.

It is true that in the Punjab, thanks to the liberal and vivifying tenets of Nanak and Govind Sing, the welcome means do not exist to the same extent which obtains in the rest of the country; but the danger to be guarded against there is the spread of English education, and it is here, that the Punjabis will have to be on their guard, and indeed would be put on their trial during the approaching lustrum. For Sir L. Griffin holds, and logically too, strong views on this question, and he tried to assert them even from Indore, when he resigned his Membership of the Punjab University, because under that misguided ruler, Sir C. Aitchison, it was going to subordinate the interests of the inane culture of the East to those of the more manly acquisition of the West; and when he now returns to the Land of the Five Rivers as its supreme lord and the head of its University, he will of course be bound to do his best to divert the course of that institution in the direction that meets with his own views, and thus water with a vengeance what his predecessor has planted. The leaders of Punjab society must therefore try to persuade Sir Lepel to their views, or be converted to his and be done for in their generation.—Subodha Patrika.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

SATURDAY EVENING, OCT. 2.

THE more hopeful feeling regarding the crops has been strengthened to-day by such reports as have come to hand; and a telegram has been received by an European firm from Delhi saying, "weather cloudy, rain probable."

Bar Silver is taking a downward course again, the London Financial telegram of yesterday reporting a decline of one-eighth at 44⅜d. per oz. There was also a fall of one-quarter in Four, and Four-and-half per cent. Rupee securities, which were quoted at 69½ and 73⅛, respectively. Sterling Loan was unchanged; and Consols were an eighth lower, at 100⅞; while French Rentes had advanced one quarter, say to 110½. Five lakhs of Bills on Bombay were taken 1s. 5⅛d.

The Chartered Mercantile Bank pays a dividend at the rate of five per cent per annum, carrying forward £25,000.

Yesterday's advices from Liverpool showed a quieter Cotton market, the sales amounting to 8,000 bales only, of which, however, 1,200 bales were Surats, and these are called steady. Spot Mid-Uplands were unchanged at 5 7-16d.; but in Surats Good Dholleras were ⅛d. higher, at 4¼d.; this, however, is a correction of the price in the two previous telegrams. Arrivals are called firm, but prices are lowered 1-32d. to 3-64d. for all positions, Feb.-March (which is a fresh quotation) is called 5 7-64d. To-day the market was again quieter, with sales 7,000 bales—400 Surats—and Mid-Uplands were 1-16d. lower; other prices all unchanged.

From New York yesterday's telegram quoted Spot unchanged at 9½, while Futures for February were 9·43, the closing price for January having been 9·34. To-day's message makes prices unchanged. The Receipts at the U. S. Ports for the two days were 57,000 bales, against 51,000 bales for the corresponding days last year, and 54,000 bales in 1884. Yesterday's advices bring the week's receipts at the Ports up to 156,000 bales, which is only 3,000 bales less than last year, and 8,000 less than in 1884. The exports, as will be seen from the subjoined statement, have been on a pretty large scale. The Stock in the interior was called 58,000 bales.

Taking the Liverpool Weekly Statistics, we find the general Stock increased by 44,000 bales, and that of Surats by 4,000 bales; the total visible supply had increased during the week by 40,000 bales, and that of East Indian by 9,000 bales.

The American Crop figures to date give the following comparisons with the two previous seasons:—

	1886	1885	1884
Week's Receipts	156,000	159,000	167,000

COTTON.—Now Broach has been offering to-day at Rs. 212, but only a small parcel was taken even at this price. Some business has been done in Bengals, say, Fine, at Rs. 179 for November, Rs. 174 for December, and Rs. 173 for January delivery; in Fully Good Rs. 169 for November delivery, and in Good at Rs. 162. We quote Good Oomras at Rs. 176, and the same, with staple, at Rs. 184 for March delivery; and Good Dhollera at Rs. 186, and Full Good at Rs. 194 for April delivery.

WHEAT and SEEDS are neglected, and the following quotations must be taken as to a great extent nominal in the absence of actual business:—

The total receipts of Produce into Bombay yesterday were as follows:—

Rapeseed	1,116,883	1,422,420
Gingelly seed	939,607	999,677

FREIGHTS are dull and drooping, and we cannot quote U. K. and Continental Ports higher than 18s. 9d. to 20s.; Trieste and Venice 25s., at Exchange 2s. We hear of some engagements for Genoa and Naples, early October loading, at 20s.

EXCHANGE has been a very quiet market to-day as usual after mail day. We opened at a decline of 1-32d. from yesterday's rates, and close with a further partial fall of 1-32d., with rather a weak feeling as regards the future. Calcutta has been open it seems for part of the day for Exchange business, and the rates wired from that side exactly tally with our own closing quotations, say:—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 5⅛d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 5 3-32d.	"
Do. Three months' sight	1s. 5 3-16d.	"
Credits " "	1s. 5 5-16d.	"
Francs " "	1·82½ to 1·82⅝.	"

GOVERNMENT PAPER has been weak, and Four per cent. have declined 1-16th to 9 7 13-16. Four and-a-half is unchanged at 102¼.

SHARES.—There has been but little movement in this market to-day, the only important changes which have come to our notice being an advance of Rs. 25 per share in the Indian Manufacturing Co.'s share, which are now quoted at Rs. 1,350; in Queen, which are Rs. 10 higher, at Rs. 910; and City of Bombay S. and W., which are Rs. 2½ dearer, at Rs. 912½. Katao Muckunjee have declined Rs. 5, say to Rs. 930; while Maneckjee Petit and Mazagon Spinning are Rs. 2½ lower, at Rs. 1,230 and Rs. 187½, respectively.

AS IMPORTERS OF PIANOFORTES,
WE HAVE JUDGED it best to find two thoroughly competent and reliable manufacturers, one English and one German, and to stick to them. We do not say for a moment that no other maker is capable of turning out equally good work, but we have satisfied ourselves that the work of these is sound and excellent, and so with the help of the mutual adulation ticket we get along harmoniously. It is an arrangement which commends itself to us in many ways: by focusing our very considerable orders in this way, we secure the position of very firm buyers, and both expect and receive considerations which place us well in front of competition. Again, it is a decided satisfaction to confine one's dealings on a class of goods, which we know will reflect credit upon our recommendation, and content buyers. In the case of the renowned Stuttgart manufacturers, SCHIEDMAYER AND SOEHNE, when we see the public affectionately cautioned not to mistake them for an obscure opposition Schiedmayer, without any SOEHNE (as if there was the faintest chance of their doing so), we feel that our acknowledgments are due for the gratis advertisement, and are all the better satisfied with our German choice.
As a matter of fact SCHIEDMAYER AND SOEHNE'S PIANOS have been favorites with the Indian public for the last THIRTY years, that is to say, long before any struggling beginner had devised the expedient of trying to benefit by the fact, by puffing his wares under a name which sounds a good deal like the original, and may possibly deceive the unwary.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1886.

LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL's speech at Dartford will make a sensation in Europe. Whether it will contribute to the maintenance of peace, and whether it will have any influence in restraint of Russian designs on Bulgarian, are other questions. It cannot fairly be judged from a summary; but it is evident that Lord Randolph Churchill's first care was to "get behind" Austria. M. Tisza's speech in the Hungarian Diet the other day came to him, as certain news came to Lord Salisbury from Vienna some years ago, as glad tidings of great joy. We suppose that he knew what he was talking about when, apparently on the strength of M. Tisza's speech, he complimented Austria upon assuming a foremost part in up-holding the Treaty of Berlin. But it is questionable tactics to thus eagerly embrace the first manifestations of a disposition on Austria's part to do better things than had been lately expected of her. England should not be made to seem too grateful for the assumed willingness of other people to do work which she wishes to have done, but which she is known to be unwilling to do herself. If Austria is seriously disposed to put a spoke in Russia's wheel at this moment she will not be the more disposed to do so by the complimentary speeches of English statesmen. The Austrian Chancellor doubtless needs stimulating to good deeds by manifestations of public opinion against the too cynical attitude which the two Emperors took up when the Bulgarian question came again to the front. But while the opinion of Vienna may be powerful to influence Court Kalnoky the opinion of other countries will scarcely affect his policy. Hence there is grave reason for doubting the discretion of this Dartford speech. It is no doubt highly complimentary both to Germany and Austria, whom it credits with setting a due store upon liberty. Prince Bismarck sets as small store upon compliments as anyone, and he will scarcely pretend that love of liberty has inspired him hitherto in his way of dealing with the Bulgarian question. Who then will be the better for Lord Randolph Churchill's new version of the "glad tidings" declaration of other days? Austria and Germany will do as they would have done without Lord Randolph Churchill's compliments; Russia will become as ill-tempered about them as she was over Sir James Fergusson's generous references to Prince Alexander; the Bulgar

LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL ON THE SITUATION IN EUROPE.

LONDON, OCT. 2.

Lord Randolph Churchill made an important speech to-day at Dartford, in which he vigorously expounded the policy of England, which he said was to be ever foremost in promoting the freedom of Nationalities. His Lordship said that Germany and Austria who were formerly less sensitive now value political liberty. He rejoiced to find that the freedom and autonomy of the Balkans were the primary and vital object of Austria, who was assuming a foremost part in upholding the Treaty of Berlin. Some of the Powers, he said, were contentious and aggressive, whilst others were peaceably disposed. England, however, if compelled to choose would certainly not depart from her traditional policy, and would sympathise and even support the Powers who seek European peace and the liberty of peoples. England's adhesion to her traditional policy would probably avert war, and this policy was to preserve the peace which was so essential to the Empire.

We hear that the Bombay Natural History Society propose having a display at their rooms this afternoon of the different kinds of fruits and vegetables obtainable in Bombay at this time of year. The Exhibition ought to be a very interesting one, as there are many vegetable and fruit used in various ways, by the natives of this city, regarding which most Europeans are profoundly ignorant.

Private letters received at Hyderabad from Mr. Cordery state that he has not enjoyed very good health during his stay at home. He was, however, quite well and in his usual health and spirits before leaving England. He is expected to reach Hyderabad on the 13th of October.

THERE is a movement on foot to present the Viceroy and Lady Dufferin with a public address on their arrival at Hyderabad. It is stated that a sum of Rs. 25,000 has been passed by the Viceroy's Reception Committee for triumphal arches and other decorations in Chudderghaut. A separate amount will be voted for illuminations and decorations in the city. A quarter of a lakh has also been passed for the preparations to be made at Ellora, Roza and Aurungabad.

THE proposal to extend Sir Alfred Lyall's term as Lieutenant-Governor for six months, which was unofficially agreed to before Lord Kimberley left office, has now been confirmed by the Secretary of State. Sir Alfred Lyall consequently retains office till October next.

IT is stated that Sir Charles Bernard's sea trip has not benefited his health, which continues in a very unsatisfactory state.

WRITING on the evening the mail left London, a correspondent says that a reply of considerable interest was given by Sir John Gorst to Sir Henry Tyler's question about the Quetta Railway. The Under-Secretary of State informed the House of Commons that the Harnai section was completed, and that preliminary surveys had been made beyond Quetta in the direction of Kandahar.

A JAMMU correspondent telegraphs:—"Mr. Nilamber Mukerji, late Finance Minister in Cashmere, left yesterday morning for India. Two other Bengalis, viz., the Assistant Finance Minister (late editor of the Tribune), and a clerk of Mr. Mukerji's have resigned. A general exodus of Bengalis from Cashmere is regarded as likely to result from Mr. Mukerji's departure."

FROM the 15th of this month, Her Majesty's mails for Quetta, now carried by sowars, will travel by the new Bolan Railway, saving twelve hours in time with letters from southward.

AN up-country paper says that the only pictures excluded from the Simla Fine Arts Exhibition in deference to the British Matron were by a lady, a spinster.

THE Hon. H. St. A. Goodrich, the Madras representative in the Viceregal Legislative Council, has been granted furlough for nine months from the 6th of December next. Another officer will therefore have to be selected to represent Madras in Calcutta.

MR. EDWARD FULLER GRIFFEN, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law, Lecturer on English Law at King's College, London, has succeeded to the editorial chair of The Indian Jurist, on the resignation of Mr. William Mason Scharlieb, of the Madras Bar, after eighteen years' occupancy of that position.

THE Governor-General in Council has sanctioned the grant of the title of Rai Bahadur, Rao Bahadur, or Khan Bahadur ex-officio to all native gentlemen in the Public Works Department holding the substantive rank of executive engineer. All assistant engineers and upper subordinates who attain the rank of honorary assistant engineer are to receive ex-officio the title of Rai Sahib, Rao Sahib, or Khan Sahib, and they are to be eligible for the higher title of Rai, Rao, or Khan Bahadur on the recommendation of the local Government. Other subordinates of higher rank than overseer are to be eligible for the title of Rai, Rao, or Khan Sahib if they have held with credit for five years the charge of an important sub-division, and are recommended for the distinction by the local Government, with whom will rest the decision as to whether the charge is of sufficient importance to justify the recommendation.

THE jute mills and warehouses in the suburbs of Calcutta paid Rs. 16,753 in fees last year under the Fire Brigade Act of 1883. As much as 80 per cent., or Rs. 13,402, were paid to the Calcutta Police for the Fire Brigade Fund. There were altogether 16 fires as against 12 in the previous year, but the amount of property destroyed was only Rs. 11,000 as against Rs. 83,000. Only 90 out of 117 warehouses took out licenses during the year.

THE quarterly report of the river-borne trade of Assam, for the months of April, May, and June last, shows that the total value of imports amounted to Rs. 61,54,700, and of the exports to Rs. 35,98,591, both exclusive of treasure. The figures show a decrease as compared with the corresponding quarter of the previous year amounting to 11 per cent., chiefly due to a falling off in exports. There was a decrease in the imports in the Brahmaputra Valley only, chiefly under the heads of coal and coke, pulses, and liquors. In the exports the decrease in the Brahmaputra Valley was in rubber, jute, tilseed, and tea, and in the Surma Valley the decrease was chiefly in the quantity of paddy exported from the Silhet district. Mustard formed the largest item of export from the Brahmaputra Valley, being no less than 42·09 per cent. of the total, whilst tea only contributed 26·72 per cent. In the exports from the Surma Valley, tea furnished 46·68 per cent. of the total, paddy coming next with 27·16 per cent.

As against the credibility of Reuter's announcement that Sir Lepel Griffin would succeed Sir Charles Aitchison in the Lieutenant-Governorship of the Punjab, it is said that up to Thursday neither the Viceroy nor Sir Lepel Griffin himself had any information on the subject. As a matter of ordinary procedure, the Viceroy submits to the Secretary of State the names of the two or three from whom he would select the future Lieutenant-Governor, indicating which he would prefer, but under the present régime the tendency is to rule India altogether from Whitehall. It is known that Sir Lepel Griffin has one influential backer in the Cabinet.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing to us from Nusserabad on September 30, says:—"Yesterday evening a soldier of the 2nd Lancashire Fusiliers shot a comrade, wounding him in the upper part of the thigh, and cutting across the large artery, no one present had the presence of mind to press on the bleeding point, which was quite superficial, and the man bled to death before medical aid could be obtained. This is another proof of the senseless system of allowing soldiers ammunition always. Punch many years ago said the only way to stop railway accidents was to have a few directors killed, and I suppose until a Major-General or two and a Commander-in-Chief are shot no change will be made. The murdered man was buried this evening with the usual military ceremony."

THE Superintendent of Police in Upper Burma has just returned to Mandalay from a tour in the Aloun District, on the Chindwin River. Mr. Daly was accompanied by Lieutenant Loch, who commands the Hindustani Police levy, and had a small escort of military police sowars. He visited the outposts of Modoung, Boodlain, Thagree, and Saleng-gy, and, on returning, rode across from the Chindwin to the Irrawady, inspecting the Ahoungoo post on the way. As the result of a week's riding, it is reported that the country is in a very settled state, and that the various posts are in a satisfactory condition. The people were found to be most civil and well-disposed, and the valley is described as "capital riding country the whole way." A road is being constructed from Monywar on the Chindwin to Min-Ma on the Irrawady, a distance of about 36 miles.

THE estimate of the indigo crop for the coming season has now been published, and the total is set down at 130,000 maunds as against 108,692 maunds, which was the actual outturn of last year. The crop in Bengal is now estimated at 21,000 maunds, which is slightly larger than the estimate given at the beginning of the season, owing to an increased production in Bhaugulpur. The crop in Behar is estimated at 64,000 maunds, which is much below the original estimate, owing to the constant rain and floods having reduced the produce of the khoontees to a very small quantity. Precise figures cannot be ascertained with regard to the expected outturn from the Benares Province and the Doab, but the former is estimated at 12,000 maunds and the latter at 33,000 maunds. With regard to the Doab, this shows an increase of nearly 10,000 maunds over the actual outturn of last year, but though, according to the Government returns, the area of lands irrigated by the canals under indigo cultivation this year is exactly half of what it was two years ago when the produce was 60,000 maunds, the yield from the plant this season is known to have been good, and therefore the present estimate will probably be reached.

IT appears that the appointed of Charles Aitchison to succeed Sir Steuart Bayley in the Executive Council was practically settled in June last. Yet no hint of it was breathed abroad. "In the public view," says an up-country paper, "Sir Charles Aithchison was never in the running, because it was generally known that, above all things, he sought retirement and rest. And it is probable that he has only consented to the arrangement from a sense of duty, and after having urged with characteristic sincerity all that might be said against it."

THE Maharajah Dhuleep Singh is living in Paris. He avoids English society and English bankers, and explains his seclusion by saying that his attention is absorbed in the writing of his memoirs, and those of his family.

SOME surprise has been expressed at the late order of Government limiting the number of cartridges to be supplied at half price to Volunteers for practice. It appears, however, that the restriction was due to some of the Volunteers having lately abused the indulgence granted them, for it is stated that one corps, numbering only 50 men, drew 15,000 rounds, while another, about 600 strong, drew two-and-a-half lakhs of cartridges.

VISITORS to the caves of Ellora or to Aurangabad have for some years had to complain of the state of the roads. Those, however, who may visit the caves next year will probably find considerable improvement in this respect. Orders have been issued by the Public Works Department that a special officer is to be deputed to see the roads placed in a thoroughly efficient state of repair before the approaching visit of the Viceroy.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO POONA.

THE FEMALE TRAINING COLLEGE PRIZE GIVING.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, SEPT. 30.

By her first public act since the return of Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught this afternoon has associated her name with a movement no less fraught with importance to the future of the Indian Empire, than that for the provision of female medical aid, which, as His Excellency the Governor mentioned in the course of the proceedings, owes much of its inspiration to the personal intercourse of Her Royal Highness with the native ladies during her previous stay in India. These two movements, to afford medical aid to the women of India by means of doctors belonging to their own sex, and to educate them by trained female teachers, to whom the Vernacular is their mother tongue, were fittingly linked by to-day's ceremony. The idea of freeing from ignorance the Indian women is older by some years than its sister movement, the alleviation of their physical sufferings, by some years, the Female Training College being already well-advanced in its tens. Their Royal Highnesses were afforded convincing proof of the rapid progress already accomplished, the carefully chosen programme, brief as it was, serving at once to illustrate the working of the institution, and to entertain the distinguished visitors by the illustration of a peculiarly interesting phase of educational progress among one section of the great Indian community. In many respects the occasion was so absolutely unique that the gathering of the little ones in the famous capital of the Deccan will doubtless be long remembered by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught even among the multitude of engagements which crowd their daily life. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Reay accompanied their Royal Highnesses to the Soldiers' Institute, where the proceedings were to take place, Major and Mrs. Hannay being in attendance on the latter, and Captain Phayre being the Aide-de-Camp with Lord Reay. On their arrival they were received by Sir William Wedderburn, the Chief Secretary to Government, and Mrs. Davies, the Lady Superintendent. Ranged on either side of the corridor were several hundreds of the tiny maidens gathered from the Municipal private schools over which Mrs. Davies has supervision. Clad in their brightest sarees, and jewellery, and with intelligent faces set off in many cases with chaplets of jasmine and roses, the thickly grouped scholars at once attracted the attention of the Duchess of Connaught. As Her Royal Highness advanced along the corridor, Champabai Thakur, one of the students of the College, now attending the second course, stepped forward and presented a magnificent bouquet of exquisitely tinted roses. Then from the inner hall there greeted Her Highness's ear a welcome of another kind, a band of Mahratti girls upon the stage singing slokes, specially composed for this auspicious anniversary, Their welcome was admirably timed, and the strains of this invisible choir were exceedingly effective from the further end of the Entrance Hall, along which the Duchess was proceeding. Flags and greenery covered the walls of the corridor, and the decorations with the gaily coloured robes of the diminutive scholars transformed this annexe into a perfect wonderland for ordinary English eyes. In the hall beyond the columns were draped with bunting, and fronting the stage was a collection of fancy needlework, which attracted all eyes to the place usually occupied by the footlights. It is the boast of the College that plain sewing must precede fancy work, and while the thorough soundness of this branch of household work is thus secured, these exhibits showed what wonderful skill with the needle the students afterwards attain. Working with equal success upon the plainest fabrics, the girls achieve the most remarkable results with the more costly materials, working out with the minutest patience and the utmost nicety, designs of great beauty and perfect in colouring. Of this branch of their education the Duchess of Connaught was pleased to accept a memento, the souvenir designed for this purpose being a series of maps, of incredible delicacy for handwork, enclosed in a case of satin, lavishly covered with exquisite embroidery. The party from Ganesh Khind took their seats facing the stage. The remainder of the visitors, among whom were the Bishop of Bombay and Mrs. Mylne, completely filled the hall, the European, Parsee and Mahratta ladies having the more prominent places.

A succession of pleasing surprises was revealed as the programme was developed. Having completed their song of welcome to the Duchess, one set of girls gave way to a group of students of the Training College, whose rendering of the familiar strains of "Home, Sweet Home," appealed with the greater force to the Europeans among the audience from the fact that the singers were strangers to the distant land whose memories their song recalled. Then came the treat of the afternoon, the exhibition by the younger children of the practising school of "How We Play." These little ones went through the drill with delightful heartiness. The exact timing of their rapid evolutions, the thorough familiarity with the words of command, and the perfect discipline which prevailed was a revelation to the audience. Following up their drill the young pupils imitated the pulling of ropes, the marching of troops, the sowing of corn and weeding of crops, the "two women grinding at the mill," and finally gave themselves up to an exhibition of infantile revelry in which there was no imitation at all. This performance afforded infinite delight and the tuneful voices of the girls was at last drowned by the hearty applause of the audience. The students of the Training College sang again a round "Glide along my bonny boat," and a Sanscrit sloke, the latter being the final item of the entertainment.

Khan Bahadoor Framji Dorabji, chairman of the local Board of Education, having submitted the Lady Superintendent's report, His Excellency the Governor said :—

Your Royal Highness,—I have been asked by the Lady Superintendent and teachers of this Institute to tender to your Royal Highness their deep and respectful gratitude for your auspicious presence on this occasion. They feel deeply indebted that on coming back to India the first public act of your Royal Highness should be to visit the Training School for Indian young ladies. All classes of the community have given your Royal Highness a hearty welcome, but I think I may say that there is no class in the community from which that welcome is more sincerely felt than from the women of India. (Cheers.) The women of India know the deep interest that Her Majesty the Queen-Empress takes in their welfare, an interest which has been evinced on many an occasion, but more recently when the Institution for giving medical aid to the women of India was founded under the direct and august sanction of Her Most Gracious Majesty. We also know that if that sanction was obtained it was largely due to the influence exercised by Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught in laying before Her Royal and Imperial mother the wants and needs of Indian women. (Loud cheers.) We know that the interest felt by Her Royal Highness was the result of personal observation, and that personal observation was the result not only of the work of the brain, but was the result of the feelings of the heart. (Cheers.) We know that soon after your Royal Highness landed on the shores of India as the first English princess, you took a deep interest in Indian history, and applied yourself to acquire a knowledge of Indian languages, so that you could communicate with those Indian women, and hear from their own lips what they wanted, and what they wished to obtain from their Sovereign. (Cheers.) But in addition I consider this is a very auspicious occasion, because we have in our midst a princess who hails from a country which has always been considered, and justly considered, in the world's history as having reached the highest standard of education, which it is almost possible for humanity to reach, and not only that, but being the daughter of a distinguished soldier and the wife of a soldier prince. (Cheers.) Your Royal Highness can tell us to what causes have been due the military successes of the German Empire, and I think your Royal Highness can tell us they have been due not only to the education of men, but also to the education of women. If you would have good soldiers, you must have good soldiers' wives. (Laughter and cheers.) Well, now, I shall only say this,—German education has had one very good result, it has taught the Germans, and I hope it will teach Englishmen, that speech is silvern and that silence is golden, and, therefore, my remarks will be very short—it has also taught several other things. It has established these facts that organization is only made perfect through complete mastery of detail, that through education alone you can establish harmony between theory and practice, that by education you eliminate the risk which attends on carelessness of proportion, by ceaseless application of thought to the solution of those problems which are so complex in modern society. That is the lesson which military education has taught Germany; and through Germany, the world; that is the lesson which we should derive from this day's proceedings, and that is the application which I hope will be given through the teachers who are trained in this school to the women of India, in the various villages to which we hope they may be going. We hope further they may be well-received when they appear there, and that these angels of enlightenment, as we may call them, will prepare the way for such an India as we should wish it to be in the last years of the most auspicious reign of Our Most Gracious Sovereign. (Loud cheers.)

The Duke of Connaught then rose and made the following acknowledgement :—

Your Excellency,—I am desired by the Duchess to express to you, and especially to the ladies of the Institution, how very much she has been pleased with her visit this day. She hopes that these young Indian ladies, whom we have seen before us to-day, whose graceful movements and charming songs have delighted us, will when they return to their native towns and villages, carry away with them the lessons which they have learnt at this excellent Institution, and that they will try to value what it has taken us many years to appreciate in Europe. As your Excellency has mentioned, education raises all that is highest in man, and especially is this true of women. I thank you for the kind words in which you have referred to the Duchess. You are perfectly right in regard to the deep interest she naturally takes in all connected with the happiness of the women of India. It is a great gratification to her as it is to the Queen-Empress to think of the efforts that have already been made to give them the necessary assistance that is required for the women of this country, and we hope that in the result they may be crowded with success. (Loud cheers.)

As I have already telegraphed, these proceedings were almost immediately followed by a very narrow escape from a serious accident. Major and Mrs. Hannay were following the carriages containing the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, on whom they are in attendance, when their own pair of horses bolted. The party were at this time passing over a newly-metalled road leading from the Soldiers' Institute to that portion of the Wanowri Lines, where the Horse Show was being held. Three steam rollers had been engaged upon the road for several days past, and by some inexplicable neglect, had been placed together beside the road where they had been working. The first carriage, containing the Duchess of Connaught and Lady Reay, and the second with the Duke and the Governor passed the engines in safety ; but Major Hannay's carriage horses took fright. After getting beyond the rollers a little distance, the coachman lost control of the pair, and they dashed back towards the obstruction. Seeing themselves in imminent danger Major and Mrs. Hannay leaped from the carriage, luckily an open one. They alighted unhurt just as the maddened pair struck the first of the three rollers. The gharrywallas stuck to their horses manfully, but even with Major Hannay's assistance failed to hold them until the pair had kicked themselves free from the shafts. The Duke of Connaught and Lord Reay alighted on becoming aware of the accident, and were hastening to the spot, when they were informed of the safety of the occupants of the carriage.

AT THE HORSE SHOW.

POONA, Oct. 1.

ALTHOUGH the accident to Major Hannay's carriage did not delay the Royal party for more than ten minutes on the road, it was nearly six o'clock ere they reached the Show ground. A curtailment of the programme was necessitated, and the distribution of prizes could not be completed before darkness drove the visitors to their carriages. Fortunately no attempt at detention was made, for the rain which had threateningly scattered a few drops over the crowded ground as dusk was drawing on, descended in a torrent for the remainder of the night. Their Royal Highnesses, with Lord and Lady Reay, were met at the entrance to the Show by a deputation of the stewards, who escorted them to their seats under the accompaniment of the National Anthem from the band of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers. The Commander-in-Chief and Lady Arbuthnot were already on the ground and joined the group of stewards, which included the Hon'bles M. Melvill and R. K. Raste (members of the Governor's Council), Messrs. W. H. Propert, Arthur Crawford, E. West, J. G. Moore, Colonel LaTouche and Major Babington. The greater part of the judging had been completed on Wednesday and Thursday, the judges (Surgeon-Major Gaye, Captain Hotham, Messrs. J. K. Grainger and Ali Abdoolla) having been busily engaged in reviewing the various classes long before the public were admitted. Even the jumping competitions which had remained over were well-advanced, but their Royal Highnesses were enabled to witness the final competitions and the whole of the driving trials from their dais under the shamiana.

Of the Show generally, it is satisfactory to note that the entries were far more numerous than was the case twelve months earlier. In the breeder's classes, which filled the greater portion, some 250 animals were distributed throughout the eleven classes, as compared with 170 last year. Nor was the advance merely a numerical one, the judges being delighted to notice a marked improvement in the young stock, which seemed to indicate that these annual horse congresses were having their effect on the native breeders. Apart from those more particularly concerned with the horse breeding operations, the interest naturally concentrated itself in the exhibits occupying the shedding allotted to what are known as the fancy classes. In this department of the show the entries had increased for 48 on the last occasion to 110, and the latter number included many noteable animals. The liberal scale on which the prize-giving is conducted, thanks to the Government grant-in-aid and the special donations made with the object of encouraging the breed of country horses, prevents a full enumeration of the winners in the bona fide breeder's Classes. In Class I., for instance, ten prizes were awarded, among the 53 branded mares exhibited ; the first of these going to a nice-looking grey mare, Laxumi, by Rizzio ; the second to Anarsi, a well-made chestnut ; and the third to Gangi, a dark bay with black points. 42 mares under 14 hands were shown in Class II., where Narmadi, a broadly built bay mare by Gunner, won first honours. In Class III., mares for mule breeding, there was a poor show, and having given Bhagi, an aged roan, the second prize of Rs. 35, the remainder of the prize money was divided among the other entries, eleven in number, "to encourage the others." Coming to Class IV., the judges found an immense improvement in the yearling colts. Many of these gave indications of fine quality, and of a promising development of bone and substance. Tam O'Shanter's son, Moti, a fine chestnut with white stockings, was placed first in an entry of 35 ; two yearlings by Ariel, named Khandia and Yeshwantia, respectively, took second and third honours. The yearling fillies were scarcely less numerous, and also made up an excellent class. One of Tam O'Shanter's progeny, Gunga, also a chestnut, had given to her first prize for her quality and substance, and three other fillies by the same sire found places in the prize list for this class. The two year old fillies was scarcely so satisfactory as a class, but were a fairly good lot. Three of Ariel's daughters, Normadi, a finely grown and powerful chestnut, Maitab, a brown, and Parwati, a bay, were placed in the order named. Two of Ariel's fillies, likewise divided the first prize in the three year old class, where nineteen entries appeared. There was a marked falling off in the gelding classes as compared with those previously noticed, and in the dealing with the four year olds the judges withheld the prize money. The best two year old was a powerful dun, Sambher, and Moti headed the three year olds. In this department of the Show it may be mentioned that the exhibits were put into the judge's ring in far better condition than has hitherto been noticeable, and far more attention is evidently paid to the grooming. There were only nine mules shown, and these rather poor specimens. A number of country-breds from the Babugarh Remount Depôt were sent to the Show as special exhibits before being handed over to the Royal Artillery, altogether a highly serviceable set of animals, ranging from 15 hands to 16 hands 4½ inches. The fancy classes opened with eight Arab stallions, at whose head Ali Abdulla's four year old bay, Faugh-a-Ballagh, was placed with Dr. Gaye's Harvester second. In the second class for galloways and ponies suitable as stallions, Mr. J. L. Symons gained the red rosette with his bay Arab Bantam, which he priced at Rs. 1,500, second honours going to Major Beaver's five year old chestnut Arab unnamed. In each of these classes eight horses competed, but the third, for English and Colonial mares, was unfilled. The only two English animals in the list gained the first and second prizes offered for chargers, Major Hemming's bay mare Pollie, standing 15 hands 2½ inches, beating Mr. Mitchell's "Turn Hout," a prettily moving five year old bay, as well as a number of Walers, an Arab and a C.B. In the hunters' classes the jumping was a source af immense fun to the spectators, whose thick presence around the arena caused its rails to be with "grining faces thronged." Few of the horses took the water jump with any style, and more than a few rushed through the fences, which were of a rather flimsy character. Perhaps the great curiosity in (Class V., the first of the hunting class,) was Colonel Lindsay's venerable Arab, Maldimair, over whose head nearly quarter of a century has rolled. The Colonel rode this twenty-four year, old over the fences of the water admirably ; but Mr. J. Anderson's bay Waler, Gameboy, won first honours. Among the hunters under 14-2, Mr. Tobin's chestnut Waler, Early Bird, did the most creditable performance, Bantam was ridden in this class by Mr. J. L. Symons ; but the bay twice refused the water. Another performer was Hiralal, a chestnut country-bred, ridden without saddle or stirrups by a plucky Hindoo, who took his horse over the obstacles after a resistance in which many a rider would have confessed himself beaten. Mr. Stewart's dun pony, Gamecock, a wonderfully good goer, did his work as well as any of the bigger hunters, and took the red rosette in the pony class. Mr. Symons had a mount in the same class on Captain Hotham's Arab Lad ; but he was scarcely more fortunate than with his own prize winner, the white pony landing in the middle of the water, as did also Mr. Tobin's tiny pony, Dandy, ridden by a native. Petrel, Captain Preston's bay Arab, was placed second, and Arab Lad third. Mr. Tobin was consoled with the first prize for hacks, Mrs. Saunders gaining the second ; both of these horses were aged Walers. Ali Abdulla's chestnut Arab, Maharaja, and Surgeon-General Thompson's bay Arab, Rocket, were adjudged the best ladies' hacks.

Although scarcely so popular with the crowd, who hungered after the moving incidents of the jumping contests, the driving competitions were the most attractive events of the Show. The superb turn-outs of the Maharaja of Jodhpur carried all before them whenever they appeared, and the Chief had the satisfaction of receiving personally the heartiest congratulations on an unbeaten record achieving a quadruple first. There were six pairs brought into the ring, all Walers, belonging to Ali Abdulla, Colonel Lindsay, Captain Danvers Smith, the Maharaja of Jodhpur, Colonel Wardrop and the Hon. M. Melvill. By far the best of these was the Jodhpur pair, two perfectly matched black mares, splendid movers. Far and away in advance of the other five shown in single horses was the Maharaja's aged bay Waler, Montrose, a perfect picture of a horse, a powerful animal and a magnificent mover. Captain Hanwell's King Arthur, a fine brown Arab which went a trifle stiff, was placed second ; and Mr. Close's grey Arab, Sultan (driven by Mrs. Close), secured third honours. The five superb team driven round the ring in the next class afforded a fine sight. Ali Abdulla and Colonel Lindsay each drove a team of grays, the former four scarcely differing in colouring, and being a fine showy turn-out. The teams of Sir Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy and the Maharaja of Jodhpur, who sent a pair of splendidly equipped four-in-hands before the judges, were bays. The winning team was composed of four bays with scarcely half an inch difference in height between them, and nearly a hand taller than any of the other horses on the ground. The Maharaja's second team was composed of 13 hands 1½ in. and 13 hands 2 in. horses, some three hands shorter, and though not so grand as their larger stable companions they formed an admirably stylish turn-out and must have ran Ali Abdulla's hard for the second place, which the judges awarded the spanking quartette of greys. Mr. Bagallay turned out in the tandem match with a pair of black Walers. Mr. Stronach, with a similar pair, familiar to residents in Bombay, and Mr. Mitchell showed up in charge of a couple of English bays. Of the trio Mr. Bagallay's tandem just beat the one from Bombay. Still another pair of bay Walers belonging to the Jodhpur Chief took the fourth of the first prizes in the driving competitions, this event being for ponies, Mrs. Anderson who drove a pair of grey ponies in a self-driving victoria, was awarded second prize, a pretty pair of dun-colored Pegus belonging to Colonel the Hon. N. S. Lyttelton, and a pair of tonga ponies, the property of Mr. Framji Ardeseer, going unrewarded. By the time the last of the driving contests had been decided, darkness was coming on apace, and time only remained for a parade of a few of the prize horses. The lady winners in the several classes were handed their prizes by the Duchess of Connaught, and a few of the prize-takers in the breeders' section received theirs from His Royal Highness. Their Royal Highnesses were thanked for their attendance at the Show, and the Duke of Connaught assured the stewards that they had derived much pleasure from what they had seen.

AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

POONA, Oct. 1.

The pattering of a few drops of rain as the Duke and Duchess of Connaught were witnessing the concluding trials at the Horse Show last evening, proved to be the premonitory symptoms of a downpour of which we have not yet seen the conclusion. During the last twenty-four hours nearly four inches of rain have been registered. When the downfall was at its height some hundreds of the civil and military officers and ladies of the station braved the elements in obedience to a summons from Ganesh Khind, and drove to the reception at Government House. Save for the presence of Sir Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy and one or two of the native Chiefs, the assembly was wholly composed of Europeans, and the scene within the halls of the Governor's residence was a brilliant one, the more striking from the unkindness of the elements without. The abrupt transition from the long and dreary drive through the thick darkness of the muddy roadways, with nothing visible save the lights of the carriages ahead, to the brilliantly lit interior of the grand reception hall, crowded with uniforms and dresses of exquisite taste, and the gracious reception accorded the guests, more than recompensed the preceding discomforts, and brightened the return to the distant bungalows of Poona with the pleasantest of memories. From the vestibule where His Excellency's band was stationed, to the dais occupied by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught with the Governor and Lady Reay, a number of the Bodyguard stood motionless as statues until the arrival of the guests appeared to have reached an end. Her Royal Highness was richly attired in white silk and brocade, with a tiara and ornaments of diamonds, whilst the Duke appeared in uniform. The wearers of scarlet and gold lace—Lady Jane's detested primary colours—predominated throughout the rooms, varied only by an occasional consular or naval uniform. The great "train" question, on which the dress-making world had been agitated, if rumour speaks aright, had been evidently decided in the negative, the majority of the ladies contenting themselves with the usual display of trailing silks and satins and nothing more. An hour spent in social converse in hall or drawing-room, and in making acquaintance with the dainties provided at the refreshment buffets, and the roll of departing conveyances then denoted the thinning of the assemblage, the puzzle of "How to find a carriage between Ganesh Khind and Kirkee"—worthy of being added to Mr. Punch's pictorial problems—once more being confronted by the visitors. It was still raining, and no one was surprised when the review arranged for next morning was countermanded at the last moment. This afternoon the purdah party took a number of native ladies to Ganesh Khind, to meet the Duchess of Connaught, a few of their European sisters being invited to the same reception.

AMONG THE ÆSTHETES.

Torrents of turbid water overflowed the roads this evening, and the storm showed no signs of abating when the hour was reached at which their Royal Highnesses had promised their attendance at an entertainment organised in their honour by the local æsthetes. Thunder and lightning threatened to render the visit an impossibility, having regard to the long drive from Government House, and the later engagements of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught which would involve a repetition of the tiresome journey. The Gayan Somaj, the æsthete and philharmonic society of Poona, had had placed at their disposal Mr. Dinshaw Manockjee Petit's commodious bungalow near the station. Regardless of the rain for themselves or their gorgeous raiment, and refusing to entertain the likelihood of a disappointment, a large number of Parsee and Maratha ladies drove though the downpour to Eagle's Nest, and the audience having filled every available seat in the spacious drawing-room, finally overflowed into the verandah. The result justified this exhibition of faith in their Royal Highnesses, who defied the distance and the inclemency of the weather to fulfil their engagement. It was an extremely interesting occasion. His Excellency and Lady Reay accompanied their Royal guests, and the carriages arrived at the bungalow soon after six. Over the entrances to the compound, the crimson arches still showed up their golden-lettered welcome to the ducal pair, and at the base of the broad flight of steps leading to the drawing-room, a deputation of the leading members of the Somaj received their Royal Highnesses. These gentlemen included the Pant Sachu of Bhore, Rao Bahadur Gopalrao Deshmukh, Hon'ble Kanderao Raste, Mr. Balvantrao Vinayek Putwardhan and Mr. Chintaram Wishwanath Natu. Through the salaaming natives the Government House party were escorted to the dais, where the Duke and Duchess occupied a couch upholstered in golden satin, His Excellency and Lady Reay taking their seats on either side. Captain Hamilton accompanied the Governor as his aide-de-camp, and Mrs Hannay came with Her Royal Highness. Colonel Lyttelton, the Governor's Military Secretary, was present unofficially ; Sir William Wedderburn and a few ladies were the only other Europeans observable. The Parsee community was represented by Mr. Dinshaw Manockji Petit, Mr. Pheroshah Mehta, and other gentlemen from Bombay and Poona, and among the ladies were those of the Wadia family. The Poona æsthetes do not lay themselves open to the attacks which the eccentricities of their Western namesakes provoked from the artist and dramatist who made them famous. Their programme as unfolded during the performance enjoins neither the doating on a daffodil nor the living up to a teapot, the most "precious nonsense" has no charms for them, and no Oscar Wilde has moved them to substitute knee breeches and long hair for the orthodox top knot for the head and wrappings for their understandings. The charming fête with which the Somaj entertained their Royal visitors illustrated only the musical aspect of their aspirations, the study of Indian painting, sculpture, and even architecture by the light of Western models being included in their comprehensive ambition. Not the least interesting feature of the evening was the explanatory statement of the aims of the Somaj, contributed by Rao Bahadur M. M. Kunte, of which mention is made later on. The first concert actually commenced before the distinguished visitors had entered the drawing-room, a choir consisting of pupils of the Somaj school classes singing the following welcome shlokas to their Royal Highnesses :—

(श्लोक).

प्रजा संरक्षाया समरिं नरसिंहा सम भला,
महाराज्ञीनें हा निजतनुज सेनाधिप दिला,
सवें शोभो ज्याच्या रुचिर निज कांता प्रियतमा,

म्हणोनी विश्वेशा करूं सफल आम्ही विनवणी,
भुकेला प्रेमाचा म्हणुनिनृप आह्मा गवसला,
करूं याचें सुस्वागत सुदिन आजी उगवला ॥ २ ॥

Thou art like a lion on the battle-field to defend the cause of thy subjects,
Such a commander-in-chief the great Empress has given in her own son.
With thee shines thy beautiful and beloved consort;
Like Rama, the most beautiful lady, with Upindrao.
Of such a hero may glory be sung in the three worlds,
Such a prayer we offer to thee, Oh God.
We are fond of this prince because he is hungry of love (for us).
A good day has dawned to-day, let us offer a hearty welcome.

This introduction contributed by the second, third and fourth classes, was followed by performances by the second and first classes respectively. Their songs appeared on the programme as Darupada ध्रुपद "भीमा शिव संग्राम भयें इ०" Shree Raga (Melody) and Tappa टप्पा. "सगस घस इ०" Raga (Melody Hindole हिंदोल.) In the accompaniments to the shrill voices of the lads the tom-tom played the chief though a modified part. The selections were heartily received after the English fashion, the Duchess joining in with the "soft collision of applauding gloves." For the remainder of the entertainment the professors bore the burden of the programme. The first to exhibit his skill was Professor Moorar Bawa, whose many-stringed instrument, the sura shringara, was most skilfully manipulated in the rendering of an air or two to the raga Bhimapalasha. To him succeeded Professor Veerapa walu Naidu, an expert violinist, whose acquaintance M. Remenyi would evidently delight to cultivate, though that eminent artist would scarcely approve of the position adopted by the Poona professor. This is a sitting posture, after the customary style of the natives, the neck of the violin resting almost fixedly against the knee as the right leg is thrown across the left and the feet tucked beneath the body. Contrasted with the free and graceful movements of European volinists, the Mahratti player's attitude appeared painfully cramped, though his mastery of the bow was exhibited in more than one favorite native melody. Perhaps the most popular of the contributors to the concert was Professor Balkobâ Natekar, an accomplished singer, with a voice capable of sweetest modulations. His satara accompaniments were remarkable for their rare dexterity of fingering, and Mr. Natekar was recalled by the expressed desire of the occupants of the dais. Even those Europeans who scorn delight in native music would have been compelled to admiration at this performance, which, like that of the bold Southron with the bagpipes in the "Bab Ballads," whatever its faults to Western airs,

"Still it distinctly resembled a tune."

When the tinkling melody at last died away, Mr. Kunté stepped forward and thanked their Royal Highnesses for the encouragement of their presence, exhibiting in the course of his brief address an instrument by which he demonstrated an analysis of an Indian melody, and also a chart illustrating the variety of musical embellishments of which Indian music admits. He said :—

Your Highnesses, your Excellencies, Ladies and Gentlemen,—You are aware that there are two departments of human life—Dulce et utile. While other associations look after the utile—what is practical in human life, this association has undertaken to cultivate and investigate the Dulce, and thus it is the æsthetic association of Poona. Among the subjects of scientific research it includes painting, sculpture, architecture, and specially music, because the scientific principles upon which music is built apply to all æsthetic art. Variety, developing into a wild luxuriant harmony when controlled by regularity, whether consisting in sequence of time or in proportion, is the essence of all æsthetic art. Musical rhythmics regulate the sequence —a succession of equal divisions of time upon which musical tones in their variety and sportive subtlety play and awaken those emotions which are inseparable from an activity of the intellect, and create that which constitutes emotional enjoyment. Melodies are built upon a succession of tones ; harmonies, upon their simultaneity. Indian melodies partake of both. I have very short time at my disposal, and I cannot enlarge upon this subject in this place. This instrument which I have here demonstrates an analysis of an Indian melody. This is a sliding scale which explains the exclusion and inclusion of certain tones of an Indian melody ; and this exclusion is founded upon the fact that Indian melodies involve harmonies inasmuch as the C or Do is fixed once for all upon a Vina by a musician, and in the course of a night he sings a variety of melodies, the Vina continuously harmonizing with his voice. His voice and the Vina are two important factors, which, when examined together, explain the construction of an Indian melody. Our Indian languages are peculiarly rich in their musical power, and in this connection a fact requires to be noticed. The Saxon or Teutonic group of languages is poor in vowel-sounds, when compared with Indian languages. Take a hundred words from any English book, and you will find that there are at the most one hundred and twenty vowels in these words. Take a hundred words from any Indian language, and these contain at least three hundred vowels. This fact explains another fact that Indian music admits of a variety of musical embellishments. Our painstaking secretaries in their arrangements have on this occasion presented to us as varied music as possible ; and Professor Natekar, who has just preceded me, and who is an accomplished musician, has brought into prominence some of the facts which I have mentioned, and demonstrated. This association is much encouraged and patronized by the honor which your Royal Highnesses and your Excellencies have done them on this occasion, and on their behalf I beg to offer their most hearty thanks to your Royal Highnesses and your Excellencies.

By the desire of the Royal pair, Mr. Kunte was presented to the Duke and Duchess, who shook hands with him very cordially. It only remained to decorate the visitors, which ceremony was performed by the Pant Sachu of Bhore. The weighty garlands given to the Duchess of Connaught were of unusual size and design, the chains of roses and jessamine sweeping the ground. The four classes of the Somaj joined forces to sing the pada "Dewee Shri Victoria" during the distribution of flowers and attar, and as the Ganesh Khind party retired, "Dewâ Rakhi Rani," the Mahratta version of the National Anthem, was given with loyal heartiness.

THE FANCY DRESS BALL.

In their fancy dress ball which has for weeks cast its shadow over the Poona season, the Royal Engineers eclipsed all of the festivals of the year, and this too under circumstances which, trying as they were, only served eventually to accentuate the splendid success of the entertainment. The weather proved most unfavourably disposed towards the large body of guests and their liberal-minded hosts. Apart from the presence of their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught to open the ball, a gracious compliment to a famous corps that gave additional éclat to the event, the ball was in every respect a noteworthy occurrence, and attracted visitors from far beyond the limits of the station. Within its boundaries the approaching carnival had for many a day thrown the residents into a state of simmering excitement. Cyclopædias of costume had become the only reading, and the libraries for miles around were denuded of their catalogues of characters, historical and dramatic, as if sartorial study alone possessed an interest for the reading population. Within the past few days the excitement culminated in frequent flittings morning, noon and night, to the shops of East Street, and at times the concentration of half the carriage traffic of the Cantonment in this locality became powerfully eloquent of the importance of the questions being decided in consultation with the costumier. With the influx of strangers possessed of the "open sesame" to the ball-room, and the near approach of the all-engrossing festival, even the hotels of Poona—the most conservative institutions of the kind in India—became at last vitally affected to such an extent as to demoralise the dinner hour. Loud was the disappointment when the continuance of the downpour so irretrievably ruined the outdoor preparations of the Engineers as to deprive the ball of an admirably designed adjunct to the apartments of the Gymkhana Club. Twenty-four hours of heavy rain necessitated the complete abandonment of the exterior buffet the ceiling was prettily festooned with greenery, whence colored lanterns depended, and the walls and ceiling were as gay as bunting could make them. The other rooms opening into the ball-room, as well as the entrance hall, were not a whit inferior in decorative effect, and were as comfortably fitted as all the resources of Ludha Ebraim's establishment could supply. The ball-room itself was a perfect picture. The doorways had been framed, as it were, in trellis work, thickly overlaid with moss, and this dark green background was gemmed with countless dahlia blossoms, the vertical flower-beds besides the lintels gradually tapering off towards the floor until only a single floweret's breadth remained. The fluted columns were left untouched, but in the niches of the white walls below the side lights were flowers and ferns, and overhead the balconies were draped in exquisite taste with rich Indian curtains and glittering phulkarries. Fronting the orchestra, where the musicians were similarly hidden behind the costly work, was a circular trophy of arms. At the other end of the halls the stage was still more skilfully decorated, palms and ferns intermingling their graceful and luxuriant foliage, branches of the areca and palmyra, the plaintain, the glossy leaved mango, and thick feathers of the bamboo all being dexterously brought into requisition. A scaffolding of teak on either side of the stage was covered with embroidered hangings. The bases of the pillars were embedded in moss, containing roses and sprays of maidenhair, the arched doorways were draped and curtained, and the flooring of the stage was overlaid with Oriental rugs and carpeting. Outside the verandahs were canopies with parti-colored bunting, embellished with flowers, and lighted by means of globular lanterns On every side huge mirrors arrangements, to which an immense amount of thoughtful consideration had been devoted by those with whom it had been a labour of love to minister to the enjoyment of those bidden to the festival. Within the compound a charming retreat from the heated ball-room had been devised, where shady recesses of grottoes and pavilions were to offer inviting welcome to the tired dancers, who would here exchange the exhilarating strains of waltz and quadrille for the lulling music of cascade and running streamlets. As if by a miracle fernery and waterfall had been called into existence, but scarcely had the workman's hammer given the concluding tap to his handiwork when the storm rendered the whole of no avail. When the ball-room commenced to fill all that remained of the delightfully planned scheme outside the walls was a series of drenched tents, the ingeniously designed channel through which the water was to be pumped from some perpetual fountain and a mass of foliage, with a stretch of muddy ground intervening. Fortunately the supper-room, which was a canvas structure adjoining the cricket field, did not suffer serious damage, and its decorations and illuminations made a bright and pleasing interior, worthy of the elegantly appointed tables, whose appearance was well-nigh irresistibly attractive. This shamiana was approached from the Badminton Court, where a buffet offered less substantial refreshment to the guests. Above the reflected the brilliant spectacle, and when the dancers were in progress, the coup d'œil was surpassingly beautiful. When their Royal Highnesses arrived at half-past-ten, two or three hundreds of the masquers were already assembled. Neither the Duke nor the Duchess had donned a fancy dress, Her Royal Highness appearing in pale blue silk, and her husband in uniform, with the blue ribbon of the Garter. With the preliminary tap of the baton of their conductor, Herr Zimmer, the Governor's band led off with the first of the eighteen dances on the card. The Royal couple took their places in the centre of the hall for the opening quadrille, the Duchess of Connaught with General Goodfellow facing His Royal Highness and Mrs. Mander and General Hancock and Lady Arbuthnot having as their vis-a-vis Colonel Lindsay and Mrs. Stewart. Having thus set the ball a-rolling, their Royal Highnesses returned to the stage, where for upwards of an hour they remained interested spectators of the kaleidoscopic scene on the floor, leaving after partaking of supper when the chimes of midnight had already sounded. Generally speaking the dresses were of the customary masquerade type, richness of effect being most sought after than novelty in design or anything striking in invention. One of the most remarkable of the costumes was that of a lady whose huge wings as an archangel seriously hampered her movements in the dance, until they presently disappeared. An admirably chosen character was the Egyptian princess, who might have belonged to the royal line of the Pharaohs, so perfectly dignified and impassive was the assumption. Fatima, one of the liveliest figures in the ranks of the dancers, was a captivating figure wherever she appeared. The splendid costume of Ruth recalled pleasant memories of the famous performance of the "Pirates" in Bombay, in which its wearer took such a prominent part. One æsthetic maiden, drooping and forlorn, was to be found in the assembly, whereas a year or two ago the worshippers of the sunflower were to be almost numbered by the score at every costume ball. No character was more fanciful than "the Ghost of my Grandmother," a lady who floated hither and thither, apparition-like, in diaphanous muslin, though her grace and agility in the mazy dance, rather belied her silver grey curls, her high crown cap, spectacles and stick. "Canada" was another pretty feminine character. Its representative was altered in white satin trimmed with swan's down and tiny silver bells, and bore with her a pair of silver skates and a sleigh. Icicles edged the bodice, and the whole dress was covered with frost. More than one lady appeared in the classical drapery to which reformers would have the fair sex revert. Roman or Greek, they wore their clinging robes with graceful effect. A Greek slave carried away the palm with a close-fitting dress draped from one shoulder, the bodice a la Grecian, and wearing shoes and stockings of flesh-tinted satin bound with gold braid in imitation of sandals. Among the male characters none approached in consistency the crossing-sweeper, who for hours maintained his place at the doorway, besom in hand, whilst for closeness of copying, the gentleman who personated the chief priest of the Parsees might well have been mistaken for the well-known figure of the real Simon Pure. There were a number of admirably sustained Indian characters, but many of the gentlemen evaded the obligation of assuming fancy dress by appearing in uniform, or in those nondescript costumes variously described as "reverse," "black and white" and the like. The following list of the guests will be found to include the majority of those present :—

"January 10, 1882.

"It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to the wonderful effects of your Blood Mixture, which has cured me of a very bad ulcerated foot and ankle. I had four wounds which prevented me following my occupation for four years, during which time I have been in five different infirmaries and under fifteen different doctors I was at last induced to try your Blood Mixture, and after taking three small bottles I was able to go to work, and by the time I had taken nine or ten bottles I was completely cured. Make whatever use you like of this, for the benefit of other sufferers.—I am, yours respectfully,

It imparts, with the exquisite Ginger Aroma of the above-mentioned Essence, a peculiarly fine fruity flavour, combined with the fullest amount of fragrance and pungency. Trade Price, 5s. 6d. per lb.; 12 lbs. and upwards, 5s. Extra Fine and Strong, 6s. per lb.; 12 lbs. and upwards, 5s. 6d. Quantity required, 5 fluid ozs. to each gallon of Syrup, making 106 10-oz. Bottles.

HAY'S GINGER ALE EXTRACT. For Second Quality Ginger Ale.
This Extract is strongly recommended for the manufacture of Ginger Ale, to which it imparts Pungency, Colouring, great Brilliancy, and an unusually Fine Ginger Flavour and Aroma, and makes a thoroughly good article. Trade Price, 4s. 6d. per lb.; 12 lbs. and upwards, 4s. Quantity required, 3 fluid ozs. to each gallon of Syrup, making 106 10-oz. Bottles.

HAY'S GINGER ALE ESSENCE. Highly Concentrated. For Third Quality Ginger Ale.
This Essence, which is a complete Bouquet of Flavours in a highly concentrated state, makes a Ginger Ale possessing an amount of aroma, flavour, and quality that will be sure to command a large sale, and that is unsurpassed by the so-called finest Belfast Ginger Ale. Trade Price, 9s. per lb.; 12 lbs. and upwards, 8s. 6d. Quantity required half a fluid ounce to each gallon of Syrup, making 106 10-oz. Bottles. This Essence will be found most valuable to the general trade.

HAY'S SOLUBLE ESSENCE OF MESSINA LEMONS.
A magnificent Preparation, perfectly soluble, and makes the finest Lemonade obtainable. Trade Price, 8s. 6d. per lb.; 12 lbs. and upwards, 8s.
"Added in the proportion of 1 fluid oz. to each gallon of Syrup, the Soluble Essence imparts the most delicious flavour of the Lemon."—The Chemists' Journal.

HAY'S GINGER CHAMPAGNE ESSENCE.
For the manufacture of Ginger Champagne. This Essence is a combination of the finest flavours, and imparts with the Ginger a most exquisite aroma, making a most delicious and refreshing approximation to Champagne. Trade Price, 8s. per lb.; 12 lbs. and upwards, 7s. 6d. per lb. Quantity required, 10 fluid ozs. to each gallon of Syrup, making 106 10-oz. Bottles.
NOTE.—The above are specially recommended to Clubs, Hotels, Messes, and Stores requiring the very finest Essences obtainable. There is nothing in the market to equal them.*

HAY'S TONIC ALE ESSENCE.
Specially prepared as a "pick-me-up" for hot climates. Price, 6s. 6d. per lb.; 12 lbs. and upwards, 6s.

A few of the many Reports of the leading highest Medical and other Journals on my Preparations may be quoted:—

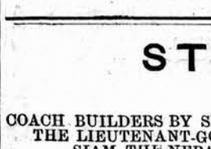
SOLUBLE ESSENCE OF GINGER.
"It should entirely supersede the officinal preparation of the British Pharmacopœia."—Medical Press.
"This Essence is of a very delicate and beautiful appearance, the aroma is fine and powerful, and its strength is very great indeed. The flavour is really exquisite, and it concentrates in quite an extraordinary degree the very best aromatic qualities of ginger."—Drinks, London, September 1, 1884.

GINGER CHAMPAGNE MADE FROM HAY'S ESSENCE.
"An excellent and most agreeable beverage."—The Lancet. "One of the most delicate and wholesome drinks in the market."—Medical Press.
"The fine flavour of Ginger which Mr. Hay has caught with remarkable success is an excellent substitute for Alcohol, as it gives what old port wine drinkers used to call 'body,' and to many people besides professed tectotalers, an occasional change at least from the Royal French Beverage to its less costly, but equally sparkling and more refreshing, English rival, is a welcome treat.—The Chemist and Druggist.

GINGER ALE MADE FROM HAY'S FORTIFIED ESSENCE.
"It pours out with as fine a 'head' as any glass of ale, and possesses all the fine aromatic flavour of the pure ginger. It is a beverage which is sure to win favour wherever introduced."—The Chemist and Druggist.

The difference between preparations made from the above Essences and those made from the numerous spurious imitations of the above, bearing the name of Soluble Essences, is most marked, and no manufacturer using the latter can compete with one using Hay's preparations, as is well known in England.

The greatest care is used in packing for export to India, if in 1 lb. Glass Bottles (recommended for finest Essences), the cost of packing and delivering free on board ship at Hull, London, or Liverpool, adds about 7½ per cent. to the cost.



W. HAY cautions the Trade against the use of those spurious so-called Soluble Essences, which, besides having no Ginger Aroma, are Flavourless, Rank, and Disagreeable, and are little more than Tinctures of Capsicum.

W. HAY, Manufacturing Chemist to Aerated Water Manufacturers, } HULL, ENGLAND.

Indentors, to prevent disappointment, should specify that the Goods are to be of Hay's manufacture.
